“Big” Company Products with “Small” Company Speed-to-Market.

Quick turnaround on new ideas that will give you immediate impact on store shelves with staying power. Whether you're looking for baked or popped snack creations, that's what you'll get from TH Foods.

Driven by our experienced team of food scientists and R&D experts, we are constantly at work on new ideas, products, packaging and technologies that can be brought to market quickly with lasting results.

We have a unique advantage utilizing authentic and proprietary baking technology from Japan. In fact, TH Foods is the only “Usuyaki” style rice cracker manufacturer in North America. This style enables us to bake thin, light and crispy crackers with a satisfying crunch in every bite.

Looking for a new seasonal item? The next hot trend? Or, just a new twist to an old favorite? Trust our team at TH Foods to work with you on your next great snack sensation.

Concept to Commercialization

With a large R&D staff, research chef and full pilot plant, we can create a premium product with incredible taste that will exceed your expectations. Our extraordinary product development, quality assurance, engineers, operations and regulatory staff work together to offer you a full service, turnkey experience.

Raw Material Sourcing

Only the best products will do for our customers. It starts with our critical selection of strategic partners to source the finest raw ingredients in the industry. For example:

Rice – Most of our rice is medium grain and harvested fresh from California.

Sesame Seeds – Another primary ingredient for TH Foods; we do our best to source 100% U.S. grown seed.
